Greetings Again Fellow Car & Truck Nuts,

Rob Parr, Publisher

Eric Monterastelli, CTO

As many of us thought by now, based on inflation and a downturn of the economy, I am both surprised and elated to report that the collector car market has not taken the downturn we expected! For reasons that defy explanation, the automotive industry has remained at full capacity and it appears that collector car prices have stabilized for the interim.

With that said, a new threat by the EPA on the horizon jeopardizes both the auto and fuel industries and directly impacts our hobby. Following SEMA (Specialty Equipment Market Association), we must push back against the banning of Internal Combustion Engines (ICE's) in new vehicles as early as 2026. The EPA, California, and other blue states, have recently passed stringent "zero emissions" legislation so they can force EV's on the road. As a lesson in the history of politics, no doubt this will trickle down, to potentially deny your ability to rebuild or replace the ICE in your classic, hotrod or muscle car in the not-too-distant future.

Although we have discussed EV's since the inception of this publication, they should not be the only means of motivating any vehicle; especially since today's ICEs are more efficient, last longer, safer and actually better for the environment than disposable EV's. For more information, read Alan Power's article on page 16, learn how to resist and voice your complaints now against this political movement.

Meanwhile, just like in previous issues of Collector Car Guide (CCG), we strive to provide you with necessary tips and articles to improve and maintain your collector vehicle in top condition. This year, we feature articles on how to access a vehicle's general condition on page 38, how to avoid common auto scams on page 10 and if you should drive your newly acquired classic home over a distance on page 20.

Remember, what makes CCG stand out is that we only showcase, list and recommend vendors that we pre-screen to ensure that you receive the best products and services the first time around to save you time, cost and from potential aggravation from unscrupulous businesses. Even "do-it-yourselfers" who tackle many projects on their vehicles can locate various services and retailers that can help them with these projects. So keep CCG handy, next to your owner's or shop manual for at least a year in case "something breaks" or requires attention down the road, even for your daily driver.

Most importantly, please mention you found our sponsors in Collector Car Guide when you call, visit or email them throughout the year. Fortunately most advertisers are very busy but unfortunately forget to ask how you heard about them. So we kindly ask for your support by providing them your feedback. You can even get paid for your input- enter our survey drawing on page 46 to win $100 gift certificate from your favorite CCG sponsor and at the same time provide suggestions to help us improve our publication and online resource.

Although this printed guide is published annually, throughout the year online, we offer lots of interesting automotive topics, shows and events, blogs, tips, proposed legislation, forums, employment opportunities, social media connections and more! Visit our website regularly at www.collectorcarguide.net. When you sign up for our FREE newsletter online (page 26), we will keep you up-to-date throughout the year, with the latest news, information and events before or as they occur so you will be "in the know."

Once again, I greatly appreciate your support and enthusiasm! See you down the road.

—R. P.

COMMON AUTO SCAMS

In 2021, the FTC reported approximately 2.8 million people had been “scammed” in some way on the internet.

Below are three typical auto scams which are out there and should be avoided.

1) When selling a vehicle. A business owner emails you that they are returning an expensive piece of equipment and will have the refund check made payable to you. You deposit the check, take out your share of the funds for the car and send him the balance. DON'T DO IT!!

2) You have a car listed for sale with your phone number and you receive a text saying, “I love your car, what is the best price.” They want you to send your information to their email address. ASK THEM TO CALL YOU, DON'T DO IT!!

3) Next is usually found in the classified section of certain websites where an expensive auto is priced at a deep discount because the owner is in the military and being shipped out and needs to sell the car. They are in one state and the car is in another, and once you pay for the car, they will send you the address and keys. IGNORE THE AD!!!

When looking to sell your collector vehicle, look for a secure, reputable, successfully proven business such as Kurzmann Auto Brokerage.

Keep a Log

Keep a pad and pencil in the glove compartment and use them to record your gas fill-ups and mileage as well as any repairs and maintenance performed on your collector vehicle. In addition to your service receipts, the log will enable you to provide more details of work performed. A documented history that is organized by mileage and date will prove an invaluable reference to you and future owners!

Preserving
Your Gaskets,
Lenses &
Plastic Trim

The most neglected areas for collector cars (in fact, all vehicles) include the preservation of gaskets and plastic trim. Elements such as the sun, extremes of heat and cold over time, cause plastic and rubber parts to wear, shrink and fade or get darker over time.

The good news is that these parts do not need constant attention. Maintenance Intervals of one to two years would be sufficient.

For hard plastics there are actually specific polishes and cleaners from Novus, Chemical Guys, Meguiars and others. They clean, polish and protect these surfaces similar to how polishes and waxes restore and protect paint.

Selecting Durable Paint for Your Collector Vehicle's Finish

As you may be aware, today's modern paint systems offer superior appearance, durability and style while they are becoming more intricate and offer a wider array of color choices. This is especially important to an enthusiast or even a traditional car or truck owner who prefers to invest in long-term ownership or one who unfortunately requires a collision repair.

contain low volatile organic compounds (VOC) emissions are popular among manufacturers and have become mandated in several states. Shops applying water-borne paint employ separate specific equipment in order to apply them. However, basecoat-clearcoat is still commonly used today due to its ability to produce a high-quality, durable finish.

Today, automotive paint continues to evolve and improve, with manufacturers using new materials, techniques to produce ever more complex and sophisticated finishes and body shops that utilize computerized paint matching.

Further, digital technology has also revolutionized the way that cars are painted, with manufacturers now able to create intricate designs and patterns that were previously not possible. This has led to a new generation of custom-painted vehicles, with owners opting for unique and personalized finishes that reflect their individual preferences.

Modern quality shops employ either water-based or basecoat-clearcoat (urethane based) paint systems with technology and regulation leaning to water-based moving forward. Water based paints replace solvents to create a high-quality finish and

Automotive paint industry leaders include such as PPG, Spies Hecker, BASF, House of Kolours and more. Expect to invest at least five figures or more in one of these longer-lasting paint systems that includes proper body preparation including correct primers in advance and extensive sanding between coats. Of course, a superior finish is a major step in attaining a high, if not enhanced resale value.

When seeking a shop for a restoration and/or collision repairs, look for a facility that is factory certified by auto manufacturers, at the forefront of the latest technology. For collision repairs, also demand that the insurance company covers replacement factory OEM parts.

EPA and Blue States Threaten Collector Car & Racing Hobbies, Internal Combustion Engine & Fuels

While our collector car and racing hobbies have lived in a bubble for many years, like with other special interests, such as sports, politics has recently reared its ugly head. Its no secret that Biden's EPA has declared war on the internal combustion engine (ICE) through ridiculous, impossible regulations to crack down on what what parts and services we can use to repair or modify our vehicles. In fact, if left unchecked, signs are clear that if the EPA has its way, racing will come to a "screeching halt."

This article will not delve into the controversial environmental issues regarding "greenhouse gases", except to say that plants require carbon dioxide to live. Actually, the purpose of this article is to identify the two-fold strategy by bad actors who are attempting to destroy the automotive industry as we know it and force Americans to accept EV's at the same time.

A recent passage of law in California to ban all ICE vehicles by 2035 now has other blue states now passing similar legislation starting as early as 2026. So it is time to respond in kind since it is a direct attack on our freedoms. Essentially, they are trying to quickly kill off cheap, reliable transportation!

Conversely, while the purchase and use of electric vehicles (now at the average cost of $ 61,000) may at most benefit 10% of the American car fleet, they are neither a practical nor affordable solution for drivers that require transportation outside of urban areas. (Last issue, we pointed out that the few benefits are greatly outweighed by numerous disadvantages of EV's.) When a government chooses winners and losers; the winners are always those that enrich politicians and their increase their power (and in turn threaten your freedoms at the same time). What an EV shares in common with the digital dollar is that both (especially if combined) can be turned on and off by the government.

Biden's EPA backed scheme has incentivized many automakers who now claim that they will stop building ICE's by 2025. Also, manufacturers can build EV's at higher profits than their ICE counterparts. Fortunately, the people now see the irony and most cannot afford these battery cars. Toyota recognized this resistance and has announced it will continue to build ICE vehicles and hybrids.

As we have seen, leftist policies and legislation is introduced incrementally so as to not shock the public. And if unelected, EPA bureaucrats get away with banning new ICE vehicles, next they will turn their sites on eliminating existing ICEs on the road, including our beloved collector cars and inflating the cost of gas, diesel and oil!

Think you don't have a choice? You actually do even if you live in a blue state. Keep your car on the road as long as possible or buy an ICE vehicle while you can for the long haul. As of July 2023, House Bill (H.R. 1435) and similar Senate Bill (S. 2090) were introduced by Congress to prevent the EPA from allowing California's Zero Emissions from taking effect. But we must act now. Tell your representatives and leaders you support these bills and you do not want forced EV's and other expensive, "environmental nonsense." Contact the EPA and subscribe to SEMA Action emails to also voice your opposition to the EPA's pressure on the auto industry. We will not be forced or shammed. Better yet, vote leftist politicians out of office next election who threaten our freedom and safety.

Can I Drive My New Classic Car Home?

A question that buyers frequently ask is “Can I drive my new (to me) classic home to _____ (fill in the blank)?” The answer is usually yes you probably can, but you really shouldn’t. The reason its discouraged, first and foremost, it’s an unfamiliar vehicle to you and therefore might have some features and systems that you aren’t used to. The last thing you want to be doing is cruising down the highway and something happens. The brakes and steering will certainly have a different feel to them than your daily driver. If the car has drum brakes as opposed to modern disc brakes, it will require a much longer distance to stop the car. The wipers, headlights, blinkers, emergency brake may all be in different places than you are used to. Does it have bias ply tires? You certainly may not be used to how they differ from modern radial tires. As a result, its much better to be on your home turf the first few times you drive it to get to know your new ride.

A lot of these classics have sat for many years with limited use and might need a little sorting out before attempting a longer drive. Also, if something goes wrong on the trip, finding parts might be a challenge and there’s nothing worse than being stranded on the side of the road waiting for that special part that your car needs.

Another consideration is the fuel available when traveling. We recommend, when at all possible, using non-ethanol gas in your older cars. Probably easy to find in your hometown but could prove difficult in a town you’re not familiar with. The vehicle you bought may look new but remember a new looking 1995 automobile is now 28 years old and qualifies as a classic (though painful for some of us to hear how long ago that was). So be cautious in assuming it will behave like its new.

So, how do you get it home? Find a reputable shipping company or con your buddy with that fancy new trailer into a road trip! It will be a memorable experience and will get your classic home safely. Classic car ownership is so much fun and driving it will put a smile on your face every time. Just be aware of the limitations of older cars and you will have many years of enjoyment.

PRODUCT REVIEW

Jay Leno's Garage Wheel Cleaner

We literally saw Jay's cleaner for the first time while cutting through the car cleaning aisle at a popular retailer, had a chuckle saying "really!?!—so for $11.97, how bad could it be?—why wouldn't we try it?

Results:

As you can see from the picture, Jay's cleaner does a heck of a job! What isn't shown here are the wheels we went back and re-cleaned with Jay's after our racing competition was over, when other wheel cleaners costing more than twice the price fell short. Jess said one of the funniest things when reviewing this product, "OMG the smell... it's like a bottle of cheap cologne and regret," we still laugh about that now, because it's 100% true. The scent that they chose is unappealing, but it gets the job done! In fact, every time we use Jay's, we remain utterly in shock at how it melts away grime.

Collector Car Guide .net

OUR MISSION

To recommend 4 star + rated services to help you purchase, repair, restore, protect, sell and ultimately enjoy your collector vehicle

We screen all businesses before we accept their ads to ensure the job is done right the first time with the correct parts, they treat you with respect and save you valuable time and money!

To promote small businesses, the backbone of our local economy, who employ the best most knowledgeable and experienced staff to perform your needed services

To help connect you with other car hobbyists that share your passion about your make and model as well as other makes/models you admire through networking, events and clubs. "We came for the cars... we stayed for the friends" is a slogan used by many car clubs

To promote the continuation of the collector car hobby to the next generation

This helps to preserve, protect and promote appreciation of our investment in the future.

To educate the public how collector cars are part of our heritage and freedom on the open road

To promote that we responsibly keep our vehicles in the best state of appearance, tune and safety to prevent accidents and to provide you with expert tips and information.

To promote that government works with the collector car community and not against it!

We support SEMA to prevent new EPA mandates that further restrict the use and enjoyment of our collector and race vehicles.

We oppose the 15% Ethanol content mandated for gasoline, which will destroy the engines in over 90% of all vehicles currently on the road and voids manufacturer warranties.

TIP

Preserving Soft Upholstery Items

For door panels, consoles, armrests, trim, etc. there are a myriad of cleaners and protective products. Be sure to read the instructions even before purchasing any product to make sure that you have the correct product for the job! In fact, there are now long lasting, special coatings for interiors—check with a professional detailer such as those listed on pages 17-18 who offer these specific products.

2023-2024 Racing Guide

ATTENTION READERS: This guide is an excellent place to get acquainted with testing the performance of your vehicle on a track to competing at one of the venues below, especially if you are a beginner. Please follow the track rules at all times. Besides requiring a racing helmet, tracks will inspect your vehicle to ensure you meet safety requirements. Your insurance policy may not cover you for liability or damages to your vehicle in track and racing applications. BEWARE:

Thieves Use Tracking Devices to Steal Collector Cars!

With the advent of new technology that creates societal benefits, many times there are unintended consequences and abuses. In this case, the same tracking devices that you can place on your children, pets and property are also being used by organized thieves to mount on your collector car or truck in a discreet location. These criminals prefer trackers that are small, have a range of 250 feet or more, can be easily camouflaged, are motion-only activated, have a battery life of several days and a low or no monthly access fee.

Targeted vehicles can be spotted on public parking lots, car shows or cruises by thieves. Crooks place the trackers on the underside of the vehicle, inside wheel wells, gas doors or trailer hitches for example. Or worse, if they have access to an interior, place it under your seat. These devices are either magnetic or can be attached with velcro or tape. Once motion is detected from your vehicle, the tracker sends a GPS signal or a ping to the thief's cell phone to as to the location of your garage or (better for them) your driveway. Upon learning your home address, they can case your neighborhood and install outdoor, motion-sensing cameras to surveil your home to discover when you are not at home. Then when you are away, these bandits employ conventional methods to break into your car to steal it.

There are many tracking devices on the market, but the Apple AirTag is currently the most commonly used tracker. The size of a quarter (as pictured), it is inexpensive ($29) and pings off other iPhones in the area. But other devices such as Tile, Tracki ($30), Vynks ($79 with no monthly fee), Primetracking and several others can be utilized.

Thieves Use Tracking Devices to Steal Collector Cars!

How can you prevent crooks from stealing your collector car?

1 Look out for a suspicious person looking at your car closely in the lower areas. Try not to leave your car or truck unattended if possible. Otherwise ask the owner of the car parked next to yours or fellow car club member to look over from time-to-time.

2 Before driving off, perform a walk around inspection to include your vehicle's obscure areas. A telescopic mirror for lower vehicles or a creeper to go under raised trucks can be a huge help!

3 If you have an Apple iphone, do not ignore notifications that an AirTag is nearby. (Apple is also working on detection of AirTags with android phones.). Should you discover any tracking device, take action: report it immediately to local police.

4 Law enforcement recommends more obvious protection measures such as: securing your vehicle in a locked garage, positioning a steering wheel lock such as The Club, installing a lock on the data port, and investing in surveillance equipment.

5 Finally, although your own AirTag can be pinged on the thief's phone, by hiding it inside your car, it will be harder for the crook to pinpoint its location.

Remember "time is of the essence" for criminals. Its a shame that we need to resort to being more careful today, but the steps we take are crucial to avoid preventable theft of your dream vehicle. The more time-consuming and difficult for a thief to steal your vehicle, the less likely it will occur and greater the opportunity for any foolish bandit to be caught.

Industry R Collector Vehicle Con

1 EXCELLENT:

Restored to current maximum professional standards of quality in every area, or perfect original with components operating and appearing as new. A 95-plus point show car that is not driven. In national show judging, a vehicle in number 1 condition is likely to win top honors in its class. In a sense, it has ceased to be an automobile and has become an object of art. It is transported to shows in an enclosed trailer, and, when not being shown, is stored in a climate-controlled facility. It is not driven. There are few number 1 vehicles.

2 FINE:

Well-restored, or a combination of superior restoration and excellent original. Also, an extremely well-maintained original showing minimal wear. Except for the closest inspection, a number 2 vehicle may appear as a number 1. The number 2 vehicle will take the top award in many judged shows, except when competing against a number 1 example in its own class. It may also be driven 800-1,000 miles each year to shows, on tours or simply for pleasure.

Recognized Condition Rating System

VERY GOOD:

Completely operable original or “older restoration” showing wear. Also, a good amateur restoration, all presentable and serviceable inside and out. Plus, combinations of well-done restoration and good operable components; or a partially restored car with all parts necessary to complete it and/or valuable new old stock (NOS) parts. This is a “20 footer.” That is, from 20 feet away it may appear perfect. But as we approach it, we begin to notice that the paint may be getting thin in spots from frequent washing and polishing. Looking inside, we might detect wear on the driver’s seat, foot pedals and carpeting. The chrome trim, while still quite presentable, may have lost its sharp, mirror-like reflective quality it had when new. All systems and equipment on the car are in good operating order. In general, most of the vehicles seen at car shows are in number 3 condition.

GOOD:

A drivable vehicle needing no, or only minor work to be functional. Also, a deteriorated restoration or a poor amateur restoration. All components may need restoration to be “excellent,” but the vehicle is mostly usable “as is.” This is a driver. It may be in the process of restoration or its owner may have big plans, but even from 20 feet away, there is no doubt that it needs a lot of help.

5 RESTORABLE:

Needs complete restoration of body, chassis and interior. May or may not be running, but isn't weathered, wrecked and/or stripped to the point of being useful only for parts. This car needs everything. It may not be operable, but it is essentially all there and has surface rust, if any rust at all. While presenting a real challenge to the restorer, it won't have him doing a lot of chasing for missing parts.

6 PARTS CAR:

May or may not be running, but is weathered, wrecked and/or stripped to the point of being useful primarily for parts. This is an incomplete or greatly deteriorated, perhaps rusty vehicle that has value only as a parts donor for other restoration projects.

Attention Reader: We updated the following list of local clubs that support our hobby. While they are an invaluable source of information, many of these groups also host shows and events that support charities and non-profits. (Some of their events can be found on pages 5-9 or on the Events Page at www.CollectorCarGuide.net.) Consider joining one or more of these organizations to befriend like enthusiasts and help support the future and continuation of our hobby! A club membership may even qualify for a discount on your collector car insurance. To add or update your club information, please email us at info@collectorcarguide.net.
